

The Makofsky Minute | May 5, 2020

Giving Tuesday: Let's All Make a Difference

Today, May 5, 2020, has been designated as #GivingTuesdayNow day. This special day is an offshoot of #GivingTuesday, the charitable movement that began back in 2012. As an emergency response to the unprecedented need created by the COVID-19 pandemic, all are encouraged to take some form of action today to help feed, educate, shelter, or otherwise care for those affected by the pandemic.

In recognition of #GivingTuesdayNow, the Makofsky Law Group, P.C. team donated breakfast to the staff at Central Island Healthcare located in Plainview, New York. The facility provides short-term rehabilitation and long-term skilled nursing care to its residents. While hospitals and their medical professionals are doing yeoman's work, we thought we'd acknowledge and show appreciation for those also working hard at skilled nursing facilities and who are primarily taking care of our most vulnerable population.

We encourage you to make your own appreciative contribution to those who so deserve it during this challenging time in our lives. Remember, your participation doesn't need to be monetary; cards, support, and good wishes can also go a long way to let others know you are grateful for them.

