Know Who is Vaccinated

Family and friends of a loved one staying in a nursing home or rehabilitation facility are often anxious about whether the best and safest care is being provided. The Covid-19 virus brings a whole new level of worry as many are concerned about whether the caregivers who work within the facility are vaccinated. Below is a helpful link that can provide important information about a particular facility including the number of vaccinated workers, the number of vaccinated residents, number of nurses and nurse aides per resident, and even statistics in regard to the quality of resident care:
